

Deletions log

Below is a catalogue of rules that have been deleted from the Code. This does not include instances where rules have been merged to make two or more rules in to one. These are rules that have been deleted in their entirety, and also do not include text removed from rules that have been substantially incorporated into the Code.

	Rule(s)	Rationale for deletion
1.	1.3.2 Acceptance and Refusal of Donations a) The trustees (and their delegates) MUST* act in the best interests of the charity when deciding to accept or refuse a particular donation.	The law in this area is more complex than the 3 rules imply. We propose to just keep a single rule. “If you are a charity, you must not* refuse or return donations except in specific circumstances“, and reference IoF guidance on accepting or refusing donations for more information on the circumstances that apply.
2.	1.7 Returning Donations a) Fundraising organisations which are charities MUST* not return donations unless certain criteria are fulfilled. For all other fundraising organisations, donations MUST only be refunded in line with any policies or in exceptional circumstances. It may not be lawful to return a donation and fundraisers MUST take advice from legal advisers or the Charity Commission / OSCR before doing so.	See rationale for 1.3.2
3.	2.2.3 Specific Considerations when Working with ‘on Behalf of’ Volunteers a) There is a range of legal obligations placed on organisations in respect of health and safety, some of which apply to volunteers. The key obligations are: i. Organisations MUST* conduct their organisation in such a way as to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, that volunteer fundraisers are not exposed to risks to their health and safety (the specific obligations are set out in the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 or, in Northern Ireland, the Health and Safety at Work (Northern Ireland) Order 1978).	Revised with in the code, under the volunteers section. Some of the rules are specific to ‘on behalf of ‘ volunteers others apply more broadly.

	ii. Organisations MUST* carry out appropriate risk assessments and (if there are over 5 employees) MUST* keep clear records of all risk assessments and training undertaken. iii. Organisations MUST* make and give effect to appropriate arrangements for the effective planning, organisation, control, monitoring and review of the preventive and protective measures. iv. Organisations MUST* audit the adequacy of their risk assessment procedures. v. Organisations MUST* appoint one or more competent person(s) to implement the measures needed to comply with health and safety law.
4.	2.2.3 b) Where appropriate, organisations MUST check the suitability and credentials of volunteer fundraisers to act as responsible people on the organisation's behalf and in the case of house to house collections MUST* carry out due diligence to check if collectors are fit and proper persons.	This is covered by rules brought in from the rulebooks, and those have been kept in the Code.
5.	3.4 After the Event/Activity a) All monies received MUST be acknowledged promptly by the organisation.	It is covered in other areas of the Code and these rules have been incorporated into the Code.
6.	4.2 g) Organisations MUST require any agency or third party they work with to inform them of any notice received by the agency or third party to cease or not commence direct marketing from (or on behalf of) an individual.	This rule is superseded by 4.2 h) which contains the same requirement and builds on it to include FPS compliance. 4.2 h) is within the Code.
7.	4.6 c) Consultants/Freelance Fundraisers MUST NOT be remunerated by commission or commission-only methods, unless certain criteria are fulfilled.	This rule has been removed in preference for 19.6 a) which covers the same ground in more detail. 19.6 a) is in the Code.
8.	8.2.1 Working with Suppliers a) If the supplier falls within the definition of a professional fundraiser, the supplier MUST* have a written agreement with the organisation. b) If using external suppliers who do not fall within the definition of a professional fundraiser, an agreement MUST be in place.	Rules on written agreements with suppliers are repeated throughout the Code and have been incorporated into the Code.

	c) Agreements with professional fundraisers MUST* include details of the payment/expenses the professional fundraiser will receive together with the other matters legally required to be included in agreements with professional fundraisers. d) Agreements with suppliers who are not professional fundraisers MUST include this information.
9.	8.2.4 Pre-Call Contact a) All responses to contact which indicate that the potential recipient of the call does not wish to receive it MUST* be complied with.	This is covered in general principles and that version has been kept.

16.	9.4 Working with Third Parties a) Professional fundraisers and commercial participators working on digital media projects MUST* have written agreements in place with the charity and MUST* make the appropriate statements. b) When not legally required to have written agreements, organisations MUST still have contracts or agreements in place.	This rule is repeated elsewhere and now sits within working with third parties.

17.	9.5 Social Media  a) Organisations MUST ensure that usernames and passwords for their social media accounts are only available to trusted individuals. See rationale for 1.3.2
21.	13.2 Key Points and Legalities  a) This area is one of the most heavily regulated fundraising activities, but also one of the most popular. The range of regulation is set out in detail in the Legal Appendices and MUST* be followed.  b) Additional standards are included in the Legal Appendices and MUST be observed.  The Gambling Commission should be referred to for queries and up-to-date advice.  There is more information about raffles and lotteries in the Institute of Fundraisings Raffles and Lotteries guidance	As the legal appendices have now been moved into the main body of the Code, these rules have been superseded by those previously in L13.
22.	14.3.3 Using External Fundraisers  a) External Fundraisers (who fall within the definition of a ' commercial participator ' or ' professional fundraiser ') hired by Fundraising	These rules are repeated a number of times throughout the Code and Legal Appendices. These rules are included in the Code but are taken from a different area.

	Organisations MUST* have a written agreement with the organisation they are representing. b) External Fundraisers (who fall within the definition of a 'commercial participator' or 'professional fundraiser') hired by Fundraising Organisations MUST* make legally compliant statements as to how they are paid.

If this is the case, there MUST* be a written agreement and organisations MUST ensure participants are aware of their legal obligations about giving donors certain information.	This rule is repeated a number of times throughout the Code and Legal Appendices. This rule is included in the Code but is taken from a different area.

29.	16.3 Licensing/Permission Requirements c) In England and Wales, a licence to collect MUST* be obtained from the relevant authority in the area, such as the local authority or the Metropolitan Police (unless the collection is house to house and the charity holds a National Exemption Order – see the Legal Guidance and below for further detail). d) In Northern Ireland, an appropriate permit or licence MUST* be obtained from the PSNI station for each local area in which a house to house collection is to be carried out.	These rules repeat in detail regulations on collection licences which are subject to national and local variance and primarily enforced by individual local authorities. Except for generally applicable licencing rules, we propose to replace this detail with a link to guidance on public collections by the relevant national regulators and simply emphasise that fundraisers must have a licence where required and comply with the terms of that licence

	e) In Scotland, the collection will be a licensed one and legal obligations MUST* be met if it is a collection of money (whether given for consideration or not) which is taken in a public place or by means of visits from place to place, but excluding a collection which takes place in the course of a public meeting or by means of an unattended receptacle kept in a fixed position in a public place. f) In Scotland, unless an exempt promoter, a written application MUST* be made at least one month in advance (or within such other period as the local authority may determine). g) In Scotland, a licence holder MUST* appoint an independent responsible person or qualified accountant to act as auditor of the collection upon receipt of permission to collect. 31.	16.5 Working with Third Parties a) When working with third parties, Fundraising Organisations MUST have contracts in place except where, in England and Wales and Scotland, commercial participators or professional fundraisers are involved, contracts MUST* be in place. See section 4.5 for further details on what these contracts are required to include.	These rules are already covered in working with third parties. e) is covered in solicitation statements. 37.	16.10 o) Collectors MUST be able to give the public information on how to make a complaint.	This rule has been superseded by 1.6 a) after the recent consultation on complaints handling .

L7.3.3 A moral obligation to return a donation – ex gratia payment

There may be situations where a charity has no legal obligation to return a donation which has been made, but the trustees feel that there is a moral obligation to do so.

There is scope for the Charity Commission, using its powers under section 106 Charities Act 2011, to authorise a charity to refund a donation in these circumstances. More information is available in the Charity Commission's guidance CC7 – Ex Gratia Payments by Charities and in the Charity Commission's operational guidance OG 539 Ex Gratia Payments by Charities.

L7.4 Requirements in Scotland

While charities in England and Wales can seek an order from the Charity Commission authorising the refusal of a donation, no similar procedure exists in Scotland. Trustees of charities which are governed by OSCR ought to seek professional legal advice if they are concerned about a particular donation in order to ensure that they fulfil their legal duties when opting to accept or refuse the donation.

Where it is clear that the activities of a donor are directly inimical to the objectives of the charity, the agreed policies of the charity, or to the beneficiaries of the charity, the trustees can refuse the donation in the interests of the charity.

Where the potential donor is a person or a company whose activities are not directly related to the charitable objects of the charity, but the charity nevertheless wishes to avoid association with the donor, great care should be exercised in coming to a decision.

Where it can be shown that the cost to the charity of accepting a donation will be greater than the value of the donation itself, the trustees (in promoting the best interests of the charity) can and should refuse the donation.

L7.4 Requirements in Scotland

Where the offer of support is dependent upon the fulfilment of certain conditions placed upon the charity, the trustees have the right to refuse that support. Such cases might exist where:

- any condition linked to the support is, in itself, contrary to the objectives of the charity
- any condition linked to the support is regarded as unreasonable in relation to the nature of the support in terms of its size or impact on the work of the charity
- conditions linked to the support will divert the charity from pursuing its current objectives, policies or work priorities as a necessary result of the fulfilment of the conditions alone
- the conditions linked to the support tie the funds and/or property offered to a specific activity, and that specific activity is not:
  - i) charitable in nature
  - ii) within the scope of legitimate action permitted by the recipient charity's constitution in order to achieve its charitable aims
  - iii) practically achievable by the recipient charity

Practical considerations may mean that an otherwise acceptable donation is refused. Such cases might exist where:

- the support is tied to a particular project or activity which, whilst reflecting the charity's objects, is nevertheless impractical, given the current standing of the organisation. An example of such a case is where support is offered to purchase capital assets (building or land) but the charity, whilst in need of the capital asset, has no resources with which to maintain the running costs associated with it
- the support is presented in an unconventional manner and the cost of processing the donation exceeds the value of the donation. An example of such a case is where a charity is offered a wheelbarrow of penny coins. It might be argued that the costs associated with the counting and processing of the coins will outweigh the value of the donation itself
- the support consists of goods, services or property which the charity cannot lawfully use, convert, exchange or sell in direct support of its charitable objects

Where a donation has been accepted but the conditions later prove to be inappropriate or unworkable, the charity may be able to apply to OSCR to reorganise the restricted fund created by the donation. However, this will only be possible where the charity is unable to ascertain the wishes of the donor.

While ex-gratia payments to discharge a compelling moral, but not legal, obligation can be made in England and Wales with the Charity Commission's consent, there is no equivalent procedure in Scotland. In Scotland, charities' constitutions must, under section 7(4) of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005, prohibit the distribution of the charity's funds for non-charitable purposes. This, coupled with the lack of any equivalent mechanism permitting OSCR to authorise ex-gratia payments, means that charities which are governed by Scots law and have OSCR as their principal regulator cannot make ex-gratia payments. While they remain entitled to take a commercial view on matters and may agree a compromise with an individual or body which has a valid legal claim, they cannot make a payment where there is no legal case solely on the grounds of compassion or morality.

Where a donor requests it, the law provides for the return (subject to the deduction of any administrative expenses reasonably incurred) of certain donations of £100 or more within a seven day 'cooling off' period. This provision exists in Scotland under Regulation 5 of the Charities and Benevolent Fundraising (Scotland) Regulations 2009. The donation MUST have been made in response to an appeal by a professional fundraiser or commercial participator and either:

- the appeal was made in the course of a radio or television show and payment of at least £100 was made by credit or debit card
- the payment was made, or an agreement was made to make a payment or payments at a later date with the amount or aggregate amount totalling at least £100, in response to an appeal made orally (other than by speaking directly to, or in the presence of, the individual to whom the appeal is
- addressed) and the payment was made by any means.

L7.5 Northern Ireland Requirements

The Northern Ireland position is similar to England and Wales. Under the Charities Act (Northern Ireland) 2008 a charity may in respect of donations, seek the advice of the Charity Commission for Northern Ireland under Section 46. This section gives the Commission the power to authorise dealings and to act upon any decisions which may

be expedient to the charity – this also comes with the added power of being able to sanction their decision. Also, a donation may be refused if some condition in it cannot be fulfilled – if it is impossible or impracticable. There are numerous examples of this, and if the condition fails, then the donation is returned. However, there is a precedent that setting a condition that money to be returned negatives the charitable intent, so it will be applied cy-près. Under Section 47 of the Charities Act (Northern Ireland) 2008 the Commission also has the power to authorise ex-gratia payments. This is where there is a large sum of money attained by the charity and although they have no legal obligation to return the payment, the trustees of the charity feel that they have a moral obligation to return the donation. Also, under Section 49 the Commission have the power to give advice or guidance and if they so please, the trustees of the charity may approach the Commission to seek their views on a certain donation. However, the trustees are responsible if they follow the advice. Further Guidance can be found in the Institute of Fundraising's Acceptance, refusal and return: A practical guide to dealing with donations
